BRUSH FIRE AT MOHEGAN PARK

Superintendent Duff had His Men at Work on It Much of the Afternoon-Trees Damaged Before It was Put Out there were many in various sections of the city and town which gave the owners of woodland much concern, as the underbrush and leaves are very dry and the fires spread quickly.

About 11.20 o'clock Theeday morning fire was discovered in Mohegan park between the Rockwell street entrance and the kehouse. It had gained good headway when Superintendent Duff was notified and therefore required much hard and persistent effort to get it out. The superintendent had all his five employes at work stopping the spread of the blaze, and there were many boys who gave much assistance in putting it out. They were at it several hours, but had it out before night, but not before the trees in the path of the fire had been well scorched and burned. The fire spread as far as the icehouse. No buildings were threatened, although the residents of a house off Beech street became nervous and feared their house would catch fire.

It is supposed that the fire was started by boys who either dropped matches or cigarettes in the dry leaves. There are numerous signs in the park warning people against the danger of
